Amended appeal of Commerce Commission decision declining clearance in relation to proposed merger

SKY Network Television Limited (SKY) and Vodafone have filed an amended notice of appeal in the High Court against the New Zealand Commerce Commission's decision not to clear the two companies' proposed merger of their operating businesses in New Zealand.

As previously notified, SKY and Vodafone each filed their notice of appeal on 22 March 2017 in order to preserve their rights while they waited for the release of the Commerce Commission's reasons for its decision and the opportunity to assess those reasons.

On 13 April 2017, the Commerce Commission released the reasons for its decision. The amended notice of appeal has been filed following SKY's and Vodafone's subsequent assessment of those reasons. A copy of the amended notice of appeal (redacted to remove confidential information) is attached.
